Patient Rights and Responsibilities

- It is your responsibility to provide us with the information needed to accurately assess your needs. This includes having specific geographic knowledge of all locations in your itinerary.

- It is your responsibility to tell the clinician the exact number of days you will be in each location on your itinerary. The clinician will review your itinerary locations but will rely on you to provide them with the number of days in each location. WE WILL NOT REVIEW YOUR DATES OF TRAVEL but instead we will rely on you to provide that information.

- While we understand that sometimes your exact itinerary may be vague or unknown, failure to provide us with accurate itinerary information can put you at risk for life threatening illnesses. In some cases, it may be necessary for you to have an additional consultation closer to your date of departure. Any additional costs that arise from incomplete itinerary information (i.e. changes to prescriptions or additional consultations) are the sole responsibility of the patient.

- A Yellow Fever vaccine may be required on some visa applications, or to participate in some travel abroad programs. The Yellow Fever vaccine is the ONLY vaccine required for entry by foreign governments at this time. This requirement is intended to keep their countries free of disease, NOT to keep you healthy. All other vaccines may be recommended but will not be required for entry into a foreign country.

- There is a higher risk of life-threatening illness &/or death at age 60 and over if you receive Yellow Fever vaccine. This affects 1 out of every 40,000 people, with the risk doubling every decade.

- Vaccine recommendations are based on several factors, with the goal of keeping you healthy. As a patient, you have the right to refuse any vaccines you do not wish to receive.

- Immune suppression due to aging, medication, radiation or chronic medical conditions can reduce your response to vaccines. It is your responsibility to inform us if you would like to have lab confirmation of immunity following vaccination.

- You are responsible for the payment of vaccines once they are drawn up. If you choose not to receive a vaccine after it has been drawn up, you are still responsible for payment of the vaccine.

- There are two types of Typhoid vaccine (oral or injectable); in most cases, our clinicians will recommend the injectable. If you prefer to have the oral, it is your responsibility to make your preference known to your clinician.

- A new consultation is required for each trip. This is necessary because health risks need to be evaluated for each destination. Even if you are traveling to a country that you have been to in the past, the risks may have changed.

- We will prescribe the medications that best meet your medical needs. We are unable to pre-authorize medications with your insurance. If the cost of medications is a concern for you, it is important to discuss that with your clinician.

- With few exceptions, prescriptions are NOT refillable. If you need a new prescription, you need to come in for a new consultation, even if you have been prescribed that same medication by one of our clinicians for a previous trip.

- By signing this I am acknowledging that I have read and understood my rights and responsibilities as a patient of Travel & Immunization Clinic of Portland.

Vaccine Consent Form

I understand and consent to receive the vaccinations that I approve during my consultation. I understand that receiving these injections does not guarantee that I will not become infected by an illness while I am traveling or guarantee health in any way. Further, I understand that none of the vaccinations I am being given are 100% effective in preventing the diseases which they are designed to prevent.

I understand that vaccinations have potential side effects including death in rare cases. I acknowledge that I will not receive any vaccinations until I have discussed the risks and side effects of these vaccines with a Travel & Immunization Clinic of Portland representative and fully understand the risks of each vaccine I have agreed to receive.

I understand that various countries change their vaccination requirements for entry into their borders. While Travel & Immunization Clinic of Portland does receive frequent updates on the constantly changing vaccination requirements for most countries of the world, I acknowledge and agree not to hold Travel & Immunization Clinic of Portland or any of its agents liable if I am denied entry into or am placed in quarantine in any country to which I am traveling. Further, I understand my travel vaccinations were determined, in part, by the travel itinerary which I provided to Travel & Immunization Clinic of Portland, and that any changes to my travel itinerary may completely change the immunizations required to enter any country to which I may be traveling.

I understand that the Travel & Immunization Clinic of Portland provides me with travel vaccinations only and that I am responsible for any medical costs associated with treatment of reactions to vaccinations as well as any medical costs associated with treatment of any illness acquired while traveling or at home.
